The appearance of the account creation button will vary depending on the template you have selected for your Company Store, but the account sign in and creation options are usually in the upper right hand corner of your site. Here are two examples of how these options might appear:

If your customer already has an account, they can enter their login information in the Sign In area. If not, they can create a new account by entering some generic information in the Create Account section. Then, they'll click on the Create Account button. New accounts will be added to your CRM and a notification will be sent to the email address specified in the Account Control Options located in the eCommerce area, under Check-Out and Order Management options.

If you customer needs to sign out of their account, they can do so in the same area (usually the upper right hand corner). Again, depending on the template you have selected, the appearance of this section will vary. Here are two examples of how the sign out option may appear on your site:

Can I Create and/or Manage Customer Accounts as the Website Admin?

Absolutely! In the Websites Admin, locate the site for which you would like to manage the user account information. Click on Edit next to that site.

Next, expand the Manage Users section on the left.

The Manage Users section enables website admins to create and monitor user accounts on company store sites. In addition, administrators can assign users to groups, oversee individual user account balances, and link users to a company in CRM.

For more information on using the options available in the Manage Users section, please review the Manage Users article.
